The CDE on Clinical Innovations in Periodontology will bring in the current approach to periodontal disease and an understanding of the progress and control of periodontal lesions. It will focus more on proper identification, documentation and non surgical control of the disease. It will also address in details the phenomenon of tooth sensitivity and how newer approaches help in recreating and repairing denuded dentin. This CDE will also show how local drug delivery can help resolve inflammation and infection in a periodontal pocket.
