REPORT

The CDE workshop titled “Rotary Endodontics-Simplified” commenced at 9:30am in the R Ahmed Central auditorium. This free CDE programme was organised by the department of Conservative Dentistry and Endodontics for the house surgeons and first year post graduate students from the departments of Conservative Dentistry and Endodontics as well as the department of Pedodontics. There were a total of participants to take part in the programme. Prof. Dr. Rajesh Pillai, Principal and Head of the organising department welcomed the gathering and introduced the guest speaker. Dr. Vandana James, associate professor, department of Conservative dentistry and Endodontics, Tagore Dental College, Chennai. Dr. Vandana then proceeded to begin with her first lecture “Access Opening-The Beginning”. This was followed by a short tea break after which the second and third lectures “Working Length, Cleaning and Shaping-The Road” and “Obturation-The Finale” were given.

PMS COLLEGE OF DENTAL SCIENCE & RESEARCH

The lectures concluded by 12:00pm and the gathering then made their way to the department of Advanced Dental Sciences for the Demonstration and Hands On. After an interactive practical session, the programme concluded by 1:00pm. It was a well organised and clinically oriented programme designed to give the participants the skill and confidence to attempt rotary endodontics in routine clinical practice. The programme achieved this objective as was reflected in the participants' feedback.
